

Preparing for Adulthood

Sycamore Class planned a journey using public transport to travel to Uppingham this week. They planned their journey using bus timetables, walked to the correct bus stop and then travelled together to attend the Fatstock Market. Whilst in Uppingham, everyone enjoyed a drink together at a café.

Our Writing This Week

Friday 17th November 2023
I can publish my writing.

Pokémon, The Desert Adventure

One day, a petite, young man named Ash walked into the hot, sandy desert.

For miles, Ash could only see pointy, green cacti and brown, glowing sand, he couldn't believe his chestnut-coloured eyes!

He felt as hot as a microwave with sweat dripping down his shiny forehead.

Ash and Pikachu were strolling through the scorching desert and were having a jolly good time.

They were getting up to so much mischief that they didn't notice the huge, white net above their heads...

Suddenly, the pokeballs were captured by the giant net and Ash and Pikachu were so shocked that Ash's black, spiky hair stood straight on top of his head! They didn't know what to do or who to call...

Miraculously, Jigglypuff hatched out of one of the trapped pokeballs and used an attack called Sing which is a sleepy attack. The net eventually shrunk to nothing!

Finally, the pokeballs were released from captivity and happily flew into the fresh, crisp air. Ash and Pikachu were so pleased to see their friends set free and could peacefully continue their adventures in the desert.

THE END

David Hockney

The Treasure

It was a clear, blue day in the Sahara Desert, and Kevin was a mile from his target. To find the Desert treasure. As he walked, vultures flew overhead. As he reached the top of the sand dune, he saw it. Four giant pillars of rock. That was the destination. As he edged closer, Kevin heard a loud rumble. "Oh no" He gasped.

When he opened his eyes, Kevin was shocked. A massive cave full of amethyst! As he stood up, he was in awe at the sight. Half an hour later, he heard a scream. "HELP!"

As Kevin turned around, a short but smartly dressed man ran towards him. "They're coming!" he yelled. "What?" Kevin asked. "The zombies, they're coming!" the person yelled. As Kevin turned around, a huge green army approached. "I'm Barry" the stranger said. "Kevin" said Kevin. "Did the sand collapse for you too?" "Yes" Barry replied. "My brother Harry was taken by them" he said. "They have the map to the treasure as well." The zombies were disgusting. Their bones were showing and their flesh was rotting. "Yuck" Kevin said. "The smell is horrible!"

"RUN" Kevin screamed. Barry said "The map was on the floor behind them" "We should hide and go out after they're gone." Kevin pulled Barry into a tiny gap. The zombies were getting closer. Suddenly, a wave of green rushed past. Then, it was all quiet. "Let's go" whispered Kevin. "We need the map" As they looked at the map, it showed the route out.

As they entered the sunshine, Barry said "I've not been up here since 2020" After walking for ten minutes, they saw it. "It's the treasure" Barry gasped. There was diamonds, emeralds, iron, water and amethyst. And as Kevin was thrilled with this treasure, he logged off Minecraft. "Kevin! Its time for tea!" his mum yelled. "Its ten minutes past six"

Thursday 16th November 2023
I can publish my writing.

The fighting six and the ice chamber

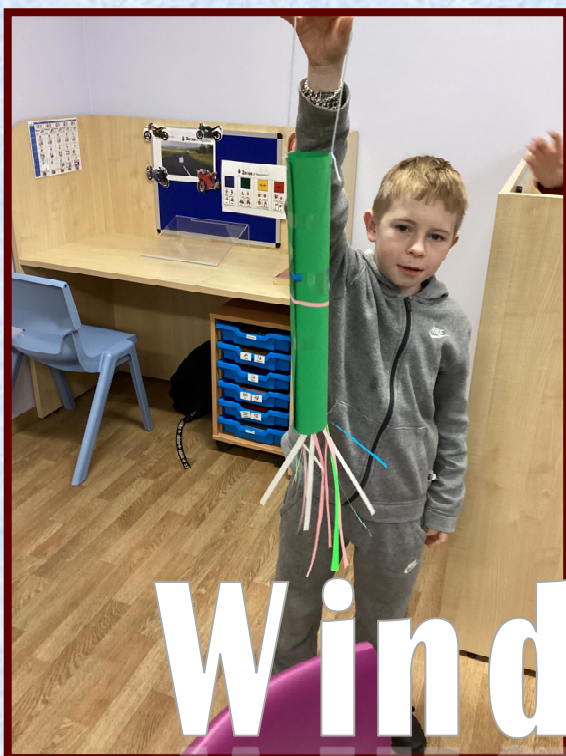

It was a cold freezing winters day in Narnia. The wind was high and loud. It is snowing so hard that you can't see your footsteps. The snow is so soft you can't even hear your footsteps. Under a mountain, was a cave where Roehsa, Harry and Hermione lived. Roehsa had long brown hair. Harry had short light brown hair. Hermione had average brown hair.

Later that day, the Dark Lord Voldemort kidnaped the three sausage dogs and Roehsa to his Ice Chamber of Doom... The Dark Lord is an invisible wizard. He has a snake called Nagini who is as scary as death. He has dirty teeth and a creepy and evil smile.

The next day, Harry and Hermione realise that Roehsa and the dogs had vanished. Harry and Hermione set off to the Ice Chamber of Doom. Back at the ice chamber, Bell escapes to find her owners to warn them about his powers. When they get to the chamber, Harry will have to battle Voldemort.

The next day, Harry and Hermione arrived at Ice Chamber of No Returns. They were greeted by Roehsa who has double crossed Voldemort by begging to join his side. Harry and Hermione thought she was on their side. Within a blink of an eye, Voldemort declared a battle. Harry fought Voldemort but died.

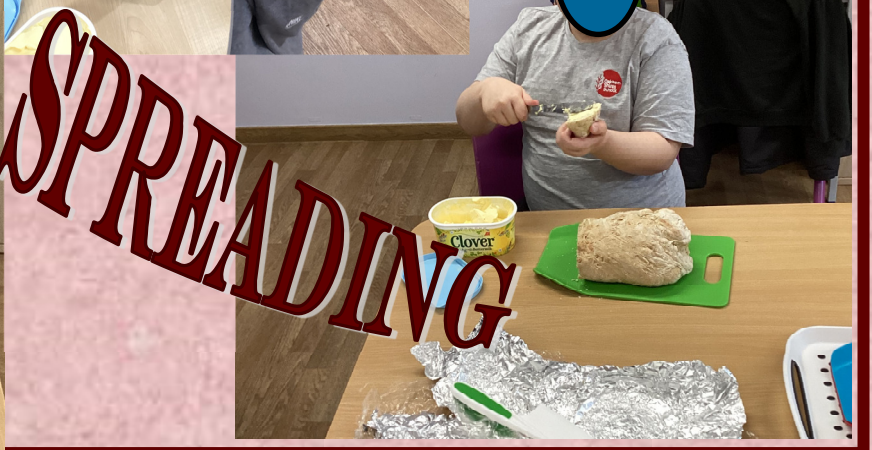

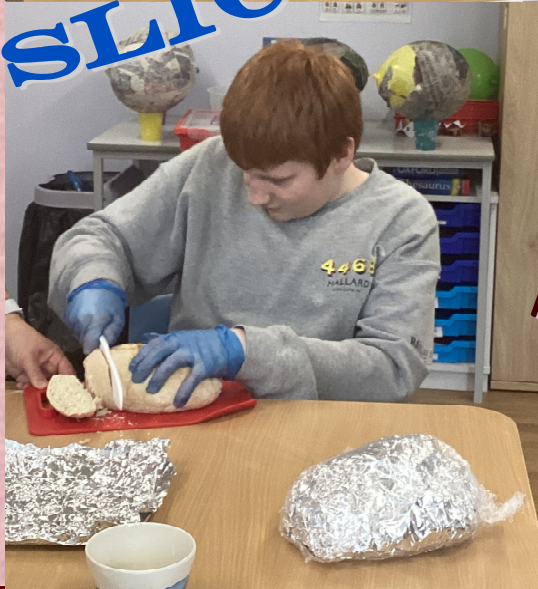

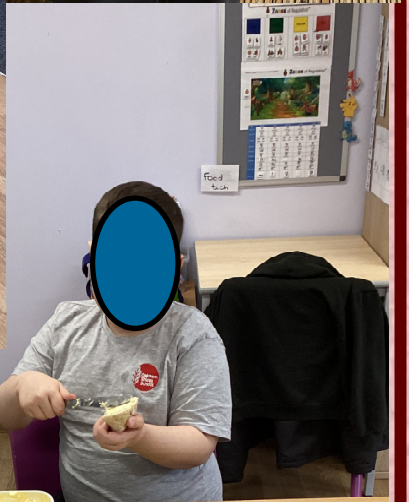

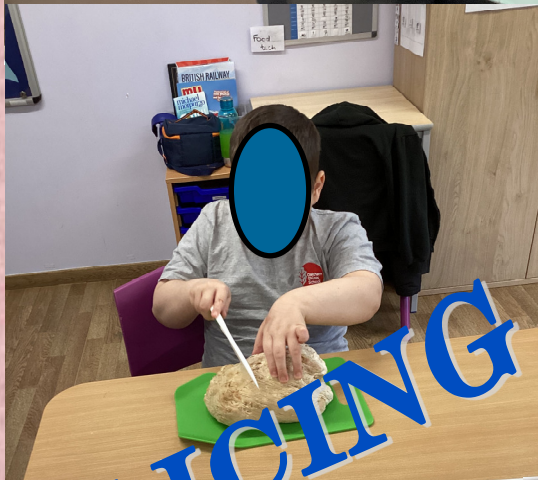

Hermione was able to rescue Roehsa and the dogs and bring Harry back to life.

WIND SOCKS

PROTEINS

SLICING

SPREADING

Gardening Club

Our gardeners this week have been making working in the community to tidy up and maintain the flower pots that we sponsor positioned in front of Oakham museum.

